A Celebration of Digital Inclusion

Please join us in celebrating the partnership of our pilot program. The digital divide is a barrier to education, employment, and overall well-being. APAH, in partnership with Arlington County, has piloted a program to increase digital inclusion for our residents. APAH was awarded a $90,000 grant two years ago by Arlington County to create this initiative and to change internet and technology accessibility. APAH residents, including Arlington Public School students, have greatly benefitted from this program. Come out to celebrate our graduates and learn more about this program.
